Black Teas

Assam (Northern India) A full-bodied cup with a malty taste; the perfect morning tea. Takes well to milk & sugar.

Fine Ceylon (Sri Lanka) A full-bodied tea with a bright and brisk flavor, a lovely afternoon tea.

Darjeeling (India) A full tea with delicate floral overtones, often called the “Queen of Indian Teas.”

Earl Grey A traditional afternoon tea, made from a blend of teas and oil of Bergamot, with a citrus fragrance.

Earl Grey à la Crème Earl Grey with notes of creamy vanilla.

Earl Grey Lavender Earl Grey blended with fragrant lavender flowers.

English Breakfast (India, Sri Lanka, Africa) Robust blend of teas that create the perfect tea to start the day.

Irish Breakfast (India) A blend of Assam teas with a brisk flavor and a rich malty undertone.

Kenya (Africa) Flavorful tea with subtle fruit notes.

Lapsang Souchong (China) Long-leaf tea leaves are dried over pine fires to produce this tea’s distinctive smoky or ‘tarry’ flavor.

PG Tips (India, Sri Lanka, Africa) England’s most popular tea, a blend of Assam, Ceylon, & Kenyan teas with a rich, refreshing flavor. Only the premier growth tips (i.e. the “PG” tips) of the plant are harvested.

Scottish Highlands (India, Sri Lanka, China) A bright and lively blend of Assam, Ceylon, and Keemun teas that creates a full and robust flavor; great for afternoon tea.
